2023
ANNUAL REPORT

ADVOCATING FOR QUALITY OF LIFE
SINCE 1971

A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As we bid farewell to 2023, I am filled with gratitude for the incredible journey we've embarked on together at Vision Hudson Valley. This year has been a testament to the power of community and the potential for positive change.

At the beginning of 2023, I joined the Vision Hudson Valley team as the new Executive Director, accompanied by the unwavering support of our Director of Programming, Jackie Perez, and our esteemed Board of Trustees. With shared enthusiasm, we set out to make 2023 a year of impactful growth and community engagement.

Throughout the year, we organized a series of initiatives that celebrated the spirit of our community:

We had the privilege of honoring Donna Cornell with the 28th Annual Ottaway Medal, recognizing her outstanding contributions.

The Placemaking Conference, focusing on trails and their economic, health, and community impacts, brought together thought leaders and enthusiasts alike.

A Surrealist Exhibition, featuring Kurt Seligmann's art and the works of three prominent female surrealist artists during Upstate Art Weekend, showcased the richness of our cultural tapestry.

The Summer Jubilee on the Seligmann Estate was a highlight, where we recognized Jim Delaune of the Orange County Land Trust with the Graham Skea Quality of Life Award.

The Agribusiness Bus Tour rolled through the Town/Village of Montgomery and the Town of Walkkill, spotlighting the vital role of our farming community.

Our inaugural VHV Bowl-a-Thon brought members, investors, family, and friends together to raise funds for the quality of life in the Hudson Valley region.

As we enter 2024, our commitment to growth and community remains unwavering. It brings me great pleasure to announce that Derrik Wynkoop, President and CEO of Walden Savings Bank, will be the recipient of the 2024 VHV Ottaway Medal. Mr. Wynkoop truly exemplifies the values upheld by James and Ruth Ottaway, and we are proud to honor him for his remarkable contributions.

We recognize that our growth and success are made possible by the dedication of our supporters – you, our investors, members, committees, and volunteers. Your commitment shapes the quality of life in Orange County and the Hudson Valley region, and we extend our heartfelt thanks for your continued support.

As we embark on a new year, let us continue to build a future filled with growth, collaboration, and a thriving community. Together, we can make 2024 another year to remember.

Wishing you a joyous holiday season and a prosperous New Year.

Warm regards,

Kaitlynn Lancellotti
Executive Director
Vision Hudson Valley

ABOUT VHV

Vision Hudson Valley is a non-partisan, not-for-profit organization that seeks to preserve and enhance the quality of life for residents of Orange County and the Hudson Valley region. We are advocates, watchdogs, educators and connectors.

We have also been an incubator, identifying opportunities to improve our collective futures by spinning off new – and now vital – organizations like Leadership Orange, The Community Foundation of Orange and Sullivan, the Orange County Arts Council, and Hudson Valley Honor Flight.

We preserve our county's treasured open spaces by establishing places like the Heritage Trail, the Arboretum and the D&H Canal Park. Early on, before anyone else was worried about over-development, several board trustees saw the need for a group dedicated only to land protection and created the Orange County Land Trust.

Today, as in the past, our members and trustees volunteer their time and energy to work on the issues – from pathways to placemaking to agriculture and more. We welcome and encourage residents from all walks of life to join us, because together we can build a brighter future for all.

OUR MISSION

The Hudson Valley, and more specifically, the historic Seligmann Center in Orange County is our home. We believe everyone benefits from quality communities, where all generations are supported, everyone feels welcome, and well-being is paramount. Our greatest asset is our ability, flexibility, and willingness to address a wide range of quality-of-life initiatives, such as Agricultural and Open Space Preservation, Arts and Culture, Pathways and Placemaking, Advocacy and Planning, by making vital network connections to advance innovative initiatives.

2023 OVERVIEW

A MESSAGE FROM OUR CHAIR

On behalf of the entire Vision Hudson Valley Board of Trustees, we would like to thank our many members, Corporate Sponsors and community supporters for what has truly been a landmark year for Vision Hudson Valley.

We had the distinct honor of recognizing two very deserving community leaders this year. The prestigious Ottaway Medal Award was bestowed on Donna Cornell while Jim Delaune, Executive Director of the Orange County Land Trust, was presented with the Graham M. Skea Quality of Life award. These awards were in addition to Vision Hudson Valley providing programming to the community around Placemaking, Agribusiness and the Arts, each driven under the leadership of our new Executive Director, Kaitlynn Lancellotti.

If you have already joined us at Vision Hudson Valley by becoming a member or Corporate Sponsor, we thank you. Your support helps us in continuing to preserve and enhance the quality of life for residents throughout our region. If you are not a member yet, we invite you to do so. There has never been a better time to become a part of one of the most impactful organizations within our community.

In addition to our support of the arts and robust programming around Placemaking and Agribusiness, we are proud to have founded a number of other not for profit organizations including Leadership Orange, the Community Foundation of Orange and Sullivan, the Orange County Arts Council, Hudson Valley Honor Flight and the Orange County Land Trust. All of this while also helping preserve open spaces within our region by establishing places like the Heritage Trail, the Arboretum and the D&H Canal Park.

We are truly grateful for the outpouring of support this past year and very excited for the future and evolution of Vision Hudson Valley in the years to come.

OUR COMMITTEES

Volunteers power the change that Vision Hudson Valley seeks to accomplish. A special thank you from the Board of Trustees to all of our volunteers and members. Read about just a few of our committees and to get involved visit us at www.visionhudsonvalley.org.

PATHWAYS

A committee comprised of trail advocates and representatives of trail organizations. Goals include expansion of the Orange County Heritage Trail, development of trails throughout the region, and increased usage of trails for recreation and transportation.

AGRICULTURE

This committee works to educate the public on the importance of agriculture to our quality of life and economy and to advocate for continued investment and attention in the agricultural business sector. The committee also organizes an annual bus tour designed to introduce elected, municipal and other local leaders to farms and agricultural trends.

PLACEMAKING

A planning tool where community members are at the core of community growth and development. Our committee works with individuals, community groups, and municipalities, as well as the public to educate on placemaking principles and to implement change. We hold placemaking tours, workshops, training sessions, and an annual conference that provides grants for local placemaking initiatives.

SELIGMANN

This committees focus is on the Seligmann Center property, as well as potential programming around the arts and Kurt Seligmann as an artist, scholar, and community builder.

HEALTHCARE & WELLNESS

This committee is comprised of people from the health sector and interested citizens to encourage collaboration and communication between healthcare entities to provide education for the community.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

As we reflect on the past year, we are filled with gratitude for the incredible journey we have embarked on together to create a brighter future for the Hudson Valley region. 2023 has been a year of growth, progress, and community engagement, and we are excited to share with you the amazing programs that marked this year.

MEET YOUR NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

We welcomed Kaitlynn Lancellotti as our new Executive Director. Prior to joining VHV, Kaitlynn worked for the Orange County Partnership as the Director of Business Retention & Expansion where she excelled in cultivating and managing client relationships with top executives. She has extensive experience with non-profits, marketing, and administrative fields. Kaitlynn's organizational and planning skills have fueled her success in her professional life.

In addition, Kaitlynn serves as marketing chair on the Leadership Orange Board of Directors and is a board member of Cornell Cooperative Extension since January 2023. Kaitlynn is proud to have the opportunity to impact the quality of life in the region for years to come with Vision Hudson Valley. She has a deeply-rooted interest and appreciation of our local agriculture industry, and particularly enjoys Orange County's bucolic landscape. Outside of her professional career, Kaitlynn enjoys spending time with her husband, Michael, her family, and her dog, Roscoe.

Kaitlynn achieved a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Management from the State University of New York, New Paltz. She recently received her Master's Degree at Johnson & Wales University in Business Administration with a Concentration in Hospitality to hone her event coordination and planning skills.

RUTH & JAMES OTTAWAY MEDAL

Each year, Vision Hudson Valley presents the Ruth and James Ottaway Medal to an individual who has contributed significantly to quality of life in Orange County. As the organization that serves as the moral compass and community voice for the County, Vision Hudson Valley chooses a community leader who exemplifies the dedication and positive impact the Ottaway family brought to Orange County and the Hudson Valley for several decades. Ruth and James Ottaway set the bar for community leadership by creating a newspaper publishing empire that raised the national standard for community-based reporting, developing organizations and programs that improved Orange County, and using their financial resources to support causes they believed in.

In business, the Ottaway's believed in publishing only the highest quality information and were determined to develop quality community-based newspapers throughout the United States. Strong editorial content on local, state, national and world issues, concise reporting, and local news became the hallmark of Ottaway newspapers. The couple wasn't afraid to take risks, and much of the company's early expansion came from creative negotiation skills and personal guarantees. It was a testament to their business acumen that when Ottaway Newspapers merged with Dow Jones & Co. in 1969, its estimated value was $36 million and Ottaway Newspapers retained its independence and editorial freedom.

James Ottaway, Jr. has said that his father's vision included newspapers that would build "a strong sense of community by helping volunteer groups and good government improve lives." Certainly the Ottaway's set a fine example of strong community involvement at home in Orange County. They established the Nicholas B. Ottaway Foundation, formed in 1971, and immediately organized broad-based fund drives to acquire land that would become the D&H Canal Park. Later, he played a large role in conservation of other land, including the County's park in Warwick. His last contribution to VHV was his family's $250,000 gift to develop the Orange County Arboretum. On a national level, Jim was a director of the Associated Press and a founder of the American Press Institute.

Ruth was well known for her equestrian interests and much of her community involvement focused there. She eventually donated a large portion of Blackburne Farm, an Arabian horse-breeding business that she operated in Campbell Hall, to the County to develop a park. She was also active in the Sarah Wells Girl Scout Council, the League of Woman Voters, the Arden Hill Hospital Auxiliary, and its foundation, the Orange and Dutchess Garden Club, the Orange County Citizens Welfare Committee (a group devoted to providing items for foster children), and Winslow Therapeutic Riding Unlimited.

Vision Hudson Valley strives to continue the good work of the Ottaways and helps develop community leaders who emulate Orange County's "first couple".

28TH ANNUAL OTTAWAY MEDAL DINNER

This year's dinner was held in May at The Barn at Villa Venezia where the 28th Ottawa Medal was awarded to Donna Cornell. She has been cited among the most influential people in the region, has adorned the covers of regional publications, made numerous TV and radio appearances, and incurred many notable honors, including Chair of Eastern Orange County Chamber and Orange County Partnership; Who's Who of the Year (1993); Who's Who of American Women (1996/1997); 2000 Notable Women, and 2019 Accelerator Leadership Award to list a few.

Donna Cornell's entrepreneurial achievements as a business mentor and her decades of service to over a dozen Hudson Valley nonprofit boards and initiatives make her an esteemed honoree. Donna began a human resources business that grew to 8 offices in 4 states serving as the link for thousands of employees and employers. Her impact on the region as a volunteer and business leader is inspiring. Donna is a Certified Personnel Consultant, International CPC, and an accomplished author.

JEROME SPECTOR MEDITATION TRAIL DEDICATION

Following the completion of our beautifully restored nature trail by Jack Moran for his Eagle Scout project, we humbly gathered in May to honor a long-standing supporter in a touching ceremony to dedicate The Jerome Spector Meditation Trail in recognition of Jerome's service to our organization and lifetime commitment to environmental preservation. This posthumous dedication was attended by Jeromone's wife Paula (pictured next to the trailhead sign) and many family members who walked the trail together following the ceremony.

13TH ANNUAL PLACEMAKING CONFERENCE

In June we held our 13th Annual Placemaking Conference hosted at the Rowley Center for Science and Engineering by SUNY Orange Middletown. This year's conference focused on trails and pathways and how they impact health and wellness while also playing a key roll in economic development.

Thank you to our Keynote speaker, Paul Steely White, Emcee, Lia Fierro, Moderators: Burt Thelander, Bill Dauster and our Panelists: Alan Sorensen, John Furst, Kerron Barnes, Colleen Hardcastle, Peter Karis, Don Weise, Dr. Anjana Poonthota, Dr. Mary Gillis, Rachel Carr, Matt Kierstead, Mayor Joseph M. STUART TURNER PLACEMAKING GRANT

Made possible by a generous donation from Nelson & Pope, VHV was able to award First Fridays of Pine Bush with our annual Placemaking Grant.

Their mission is to support and showcase small businesses, local artists and musicians, and their town as a year-round destination for local residents and visitors to shop, drink, eat, listen to live music, and enjoy the bounty of experiences that the hamlet of Pine Bush has to offer.

Join them the First Friday of Each Month from May through December, 4 pm – 7 pm.

UPSTATE ART WEEKEND

VHV was proud to participate in this year's Upstate Art Weekend in July. We welcomed art enthusiasts from far and wide to The Seligmann Center to take in the original work of Kurt Seligmann and others. We wish special thank you to Elliott De Cesare for curating the event.

SUMMER JUBILEE

At our Summer Jubilee held on the grounds of the Seligmann Center in August, we honored Jim Delaune from the Orange County Land Trust with the Graham M. Skea Quality of Life Award. Vision Hudson Valley created this award to honor Graham M. Skea in recognition of his many contributions both to this organization and the community as a whole. The recipients of the Graham Skea Award need to exemplify Graham's qualities and Jim Delaune of the Orange County Land Trust does just that.
